Greetings from the Chancellor
ELIZABETH (BETH) J. STROBLE, PHD

Graduates, colleagues, friends, family and honored guests: This moment celebrates the culmination of years of diligent work and dedicated study by the exceptional students who select Webster University on their path to global academic excellence. We take pride in Webster’s students who make their homes in places as far apart as Accra and San Antonio, Tashkent and Saint Louis, among the many communities Webster calls home.

As Webster alumni, these graduates join an elite global community of accomplished and connected citizens. From the first two graduates in the Class of 1919 to the thousands of graduates in the Class of 2021, they embody the promise of Webster’s enduring commitment to inclusive education.

Graduates, we know the significance of this day in your life and career, and like you, we are saddened that a global health crisis prevents us from being together in person. But it is important that we take this moment to celebrate with you today, and we hope you can join us in person in the fall. Wherever in the world your journey takes you next, and wherever you call home in the future, Webster University goes with you as your proud alma mater. Congratulations!

Elizabeth (Beth) J. Stroble, PhD
Chancellor
Greetings from the President

JULIAN Z. SCHUSTER, PHD

Graduates, today you participate in one of the proudest and longest-running traditions in all of higher education. Your commencement ceremony is a significant milestone which a pandemic can change, but not erase. Webster’s 102nd annual commencement ceremony is a symbol, and a celebration, of the highest reward you can achieve in academia. The achievements of our graduates deserve our formal recognition, our deepest respect and a heartfelt congratulations from all of our family, friends and colleagues.

Though the coronavirus has altered commencement plans at Webster campus locations throughout the United States, Europe, Asia and Africa, we as a global community will make sure that your success is recognized, honored and celebrated.

Today we hold great hope for the future and look forward to opportunities to hold large gatherings in person again. We hope you stay connected with us, network with your fellow alumni, and take advantages of future opportunities to gather such as the Homecoming & Alumni Weekend on the main campus each fall.

Until then we offer our heartfelt congratulations to the Class of 2021!

Julian Z. Schuster, PhD
President
Transforming Students for Individual Excellence and Global Citizenship

With its home campus in Saint Louis, Missouri, U.S.A., Webster University comprises an action-oriented global network of faculty, staff, students and alumni who forge powerful bonds with each other and with their communities around the globe. Founded in 1915, Webster is a private non-profit university with students studying at campus locations in North America, Europe, Asia and Africa and in a robust learning environment online. The university is committed to ensuring high-quality learning experiences that transform students for global citizenship and individual excellence.

As a strong, truly global university, Webster provides uniquely global experiences, which prepare our students to lead as global citizens. Webster’s business/academic model integrates global assets in innovative ways to achieve excellence in academic and administrative programs, services and graduates.

Graduates earn Webster University degrees through programs offered in five Colleges and Schools:

- College of Arts & Sciences
- George Herbert Walker School of Business & Technology
- Leigh Gerdine College of Fine Arts
- School of Communications
- School of Education

Webster University is accredited by The Higher Learning Commission.

Alma Mater

In recognition of the Webster University Centennial, the University held a contest in early 2015 to create a new alma mater that represents the University’s mission in its second century. “Webster U. You Are Our Home,” by Christopher Poetz (Class of 2016), was selected based upon the overall appropriateness of the lyrics and music, with particular attention to how the lyrics reflect Webster’s mission, vision and values.

ALMA MATER LYRICS

We hold you dear and close to our heart,
With strength and pride and wisdom to impart.
We are fond and bound by our diverse community.
Webster U., you are our home.

May laughter always be found within these halls.
May success and achievement be forged within these walls.
May you make every dream a new reality.
Webster U., you are our home.

Acceptance, love, and friendships we’ve made,
With memories had, which shall not fade.
The banner of blue and gold does fly,
heralding our great history on high.

And so, our dear Alma Mater we plea:
Be our home, keep us safe in loving unity.
For to us you will be always something more.
Webster U., you are our home.

Commencement Speaker

JACKIE JOYNER-KERSEE, DOCTOR OF HUMANE LETTERS

Joyner-Kersee is a six-time Olympic medalist, including three Olympic gold medals. Throughout her career and over four Olympic Games, she dominated the Olympic heptathlon and long jump events. The world record she set in the heptathlon at the 1988 Olympic Games in Seoul, South Korea, still stands today, over 30 years later. Sports Illustrated named Joyner-Kersee the greatest female athlete of the 20th century.

Her post-athletic career has been marked by major contributions and leadership as a philanthropist and a tireless advocate for children’s education, racial equality, and women’s rights. In 1988, she established the Jackie Joyner-Kersee Foundation as the vehicle through which she provides youth, adults and families with the resources to improve their quality of life.

In 2000, the Jackie Joyner-Kersee Foundation raised over $12 million to build The Jackie Joyner-Kersee Center, a 41,000-square-foot facility with 1,200-seat gymnasium on a 37-acre site. The center fulfills the largely unmet need for youth recreation and sports venues in East St. Louis. In 2007, Joyner-Kersee, along with a number of well-known pro athletes, founded Athletes for Hope, a charitable organization, which helps professional athletes get involved in charitable causes and inspires millions of non-athletes to volunteer in community support.

A dynamic public speaker, Joyner-Kersee continues to be a sought-after motivational speaker and voice for the issues affecting 21st century global society. Webster University presented her with the Champion For All award at its 2019 Diversity, Equity and Inclusion Conference. In January she was a featured speaker at the African Renaissance and Diaspora Network’s (ARDN) Second Women of the Diaspora Summit: Economic Equity, and ARDN has now asked to serve as a Good Will Ambassador.

“In her role as an athlete and as a philanthropist, Jackie Joyner-Kersee has inspired millions with her efforts for children’s education, racial equality and women’s rights,” said President Julian Z. Schuster. “She continues to excel in everything she does and redefines the meaning of being ‘the greatest ever!’”

“We are honored to recognize Jackie Joyner-Kersee and Jinny Browning, two legendary women, at our signature Commencement event,” said Chancellor Elizabeth (Beth) J. Stroble. “Their impact in St. Louis and beyond is a source of inspiration. As they have excelled in their life’s work, they have intentionally expanded the opportunities for learning and achievement for members of their communities. Indeed, their work has made it possible for people of all ages to gain access to education, sports, culture, and lifelong learning. We admire their accomplishments as well as their leadership and generous sharing of their talents to benefit others.”
Honorary Doctorate Recipient

VIRGINIA (JINNY) JACKSON BROWNING, DOCTOR OF LAWS

Virginia (Jinny) Jackson Browning is a longtime friend of Webster University who is known for her support of education, science and the performing arts throughout the St. Louis region. She and her family, including her late husband, former Webster University trustee Larry Browning, and their daughters, have provided essential support to landmark institutions including the St. Louis Science Center, the Sheldon Concert Hall, the St. Louis Symphony, Opera Theatre of Saint Louis, and the Repertory Theatre of St. Louis, the latter for which she also served on the board of directors.

Browning’s passion for the performing arts dates back to her childhood in upstate New York, where her parents established a local theater. After studying microbiology at Cornell University and meeting her husband there, they moved to Maysville, Kentucky, where she established The Maysville Players theater company.

At Webster University, Browning and her family have supported scholarships and professorships, the Community Music School and the Emerson Library, and many other major initiatives that will have a lasting impact on Webster students for generations.

The main stage of the Webster University Loretto-Hilton Center was named the Virginia Jackson Browning Theatre in 2002. The newest building on Webster’s main campus, Browning Hall, the Interdisciplinary Science Building, is named in the family’s honor and in recognition of their support for the building’s construction. The family previously established Webster’s first endowed science faculty position, the Laurnce L. Browning, Jr. Endowed Professor in Biological Sciences.

“The passion, dedication, and vision of Jinny Browning redefined the artistic landscape in St. Louis and left a lasting imprint on sciences at Webster University,” said Webster University President Julian Z. Schuster. “To put it simply: St. Louis and Webster would not be the same without Jinny Browning! We are delighted to feature both of them as our students, faculty and staff celebrate the Class of 2021.”

“We are honored to recognize Jackie Joyner-Kersee and Jinny Browning, two legendary women, at our signature Commencement event,” said Chancellor Elizabeth (Beth) J. Stroble. “Their impact in St. Louis and beyond is a source of inspiration. As they have excelled in their life’s work, they have intentionally expanded the opportunities for learning and achievement for members of their communities. Indeed, their work has made it possible for people of all ages to gain access to education, sports, culture, and lifelong learning. We admire their accomplishments as well as their leadership and generous sharing of their talents to benefit others.”

Academic Honors and Student Awards

HONORS AWARDED 2020–2021

Undergraduate University Honors

University-wide academic honors (cum laude, magna cum laude, summa cum laude) are awarded to the bachelor’s degree recipients who have achieved a high GPA across the curriculum. Academic honors are noted by graduates’ name in the program. Honors are tentative for May graduates, pending the computation of final grades.

Undergraduate Departmental Honors

Individual departments in the Colleges and Schools award Departmental Honors to bachelor’s degree recipients who achieve academic excellence in their major field(s). Criteria for selection are determined by individual departments. Undergraduate Departmental Honors are listed on pages 37–39.

Graduate Academic Honors

Students who complete their graduate degree program (including all prerequisite, required, elective and transfer courses) while maintaining a minimum GPA of 3.95 receive Graduate Academic Honors. Sequential degrees are excluded from this designation. Graduate Academic Honors are noted by graduates’ names in the program.

International Distinction

Webster University offers a diploma for undergraduates who complete their baccalaureate degree with three core components (second language proficiency, study abroad, and international field work or internship). These graduates, noted in the program, will have their bachelor’s degree awarded with International Distinction.

ACADEMIC REGALIA

Regalia worn by faculty and graduates are based on academic dress used in the universities of medieval Europe. By the early 1900s, Webster University and other American colleges and universities adopted the custom.

The academic Costume Code of the American Council on Education prescribes color, shape and texture of regalia. Webster University follows these customs, with room for uniquely Webster traditions that distinguish this worldwide institution.

THE GOWN

The flowing gown dates from the 17th century. It is traditionally black for all degrees, with pointed sleeves for bachelor’s, long closed sleeves with a slit at the arm or wrist for master’s, and a full bell sleeve for a doctoral degree.

THE CAP

A universally accepted style for U.S.-based colleges and universities, the mortarboard is a sign of freedom of scholarship and the responsibility and dignity which scholarship endows the wearer.

THE MACE

In academia, the mace represents the authority of a university over its academic programs. A new Webster University mace was designed for the Centennial year in 2015. The mace is 42 inches long and made of mahogany. Four bronze medals accented with blue enamel display the Webster University seal and Centennial logo, affixed to each side of the lantern head. The finial and accent wood were crafted from the Century tree, a tulip poplar that stood for nearly 100 years behind Webster Hall. The president of the Faculty Senate carries the mace.

THE CHANCELLOR’S MEDALLION

The Chancellor’s Medallion is a symbol of the authority vested in the Chancellor of the University and is worn on official occasions. It features the Webster University seal, which has evolved over the history of the University. The seal was last updated in 2019, redesigned by an alumna who won a contest to celebrate the 100th Commencement. The seal’s open book features the year of Webster’s founding. The “W” spanning the globe represents the breadth of Webster’s campus network and alumni, while the torch and laurels represent the quest for knowledge and academic achievement.

THE HOOD

Worn across the throat and over the shoulders, the hood reflects the official colors of the University granting the degree. The color of velvet represents the wearer’s field of learning.

MILITARY TRADITIONS

Webster University has provided education on U.S. Armed Forces installations for over 45 years. Military students on active duty may wear their full dress uniform in lieu of traditional academic dress at commencement.

MUSICAL TRADITIONS

The Webster University Chamber Singers, directed by Trent A. Patterson, DMA, will sing the National Anthem.

Cole Allen, Cullen Curth, Mason German, Franklin Gahore, Damrius Levi-Burks, Noah Lovins, Keion Lukes, Caleb McCarroll, Jay McKeehan, Sam Mueller, Dragomir Page, Jacob Rocklage, Micah Schwartz, Darren Tucker, Sage Vermont, Zachery Wehling

The Webster University Jazz Singers, directed by Debby Lennon, will sing the Alma Mater.

The Webster University Chamber Singers and the Webster University Jazz Singers alternate commencement years for this honor. Traditionally, the John Ford Highland Band performs traditional bagpipe selections during the prelude, led by Dean Emeritus Peter Sargent, who passed away during the 2019–2020 academic year. Archival footage of Sargent and the band is featured in the 2020 virtual commencement ceremony.

COLORS

In Webster University’s commencement procession, select students carry the U.S.A. flag, the Missouri state flag and the Webster University flag.

Andy Pham (Missouri flag) College of Arts & Sciences

Yatina Katunga (Webster University flag) George Herbert Walker School of Business & Technology

We also present the flags of host countries of Webster University international campus locations, followed by graduates who carry the flags of their home countries. With campuses on four continents, Webster University’s worldwide student body represents 104 different nationalities.

OTHER SYMBOLS

Webster University graduates are also allowed to display various symbols of achievements (e.g. honors cords), sponsored experiences (study abroad stoles), commitments (ethics pledge ribbons), student organizations (campus leadership cords), heritage (multicultural stoles) or off-campus study.
