ACTION

Each of the four themes has four objectives – a total of sixteen goals we aim to achieve by 2020. To ensure continuous and measurable progress toward the objectives, 15 key metrics have been identified to measure our success and track our progress. The Webster University Strategic Plan Update Reports will share performance on these metrics with our constituents.

A Global, Student-Centered Experience

Webster University will take a student-centered and action-oriented approach to learning, which will be driven by our core values - students, learning, diversity and inclusion and global citizenship.

We value a culture that connects students – to each other, to their faculty, to their local and global communities – and provides opportunities for engagement, discovery, and the development of competencies that will help them succeed in their chosen fields. We will support the culture of real-world experience through the development and strengthening of curricular and co-curricular activities designed to give students opportunities to practice their developing competencies.

OBJECTIVES

ACTION-ORIENTED COMMUNITY

We will design and imbed experiences across the network that enrich students’ understanding of our core values and put those values into action. We will strive to position Webster to receive external recognitions for action-oriented learning with a focus on the values of global citizenship and diversity.

A Network of Academic & Operational Excellence

Webster University will move to the next level of academic excellence with degree programs and academic enrichment opportunities fitting our diverse student population and will achieve operational excellence in the delivery of programs and services.

We will be a strong global institution both academically and operationally. Academic excellence is supported by a culture that supports faculty teaching, scholarship, research, artistic endeavors, curriculum development, and service across the network. ACTION

Some initiatives will launch immediately; others will require start-up time. Some initiatives can be completed within one year; others are longer term. As initiatives are completed, new initiatives will be vetted and selected to continue the progress toward our objectives. The goal of all initiatives is to make progress on objectives, as measured by our metrics.

Strategic & Sustainable Development

Webster University will develop and implement integrated strategies that lead to sustainable, strategic, and balanced development.

The landscape of higher education is changing rapidly due to economic and demographic changes, questions about the necessity and affordability of college degrees, the impact of technology, the rise of the for-profit education sector, and other forces. Maintaining and growing revenue is necessary for the overall financial health of the institution and to fund the priorities set out in the strategic plan.

OBJECTIVES

STRATEGIC ENROLLMENT GROWTH

We will determine specific geographic areas, demographic constituencies, and modalities that will lead to sustainable growth. For Webster University, key areas are: traditional undergraduate students, non-traditional undergraduates (adult learners over age 25), graduate students, online students, and non-degree-seeking students (students seeking a credential other than a full degree, such as a certificate).

PRIORITIES FOR OPTIMAL GROWTH:

We will develop and allocate financial and human resources to support priority initiatives.

DEPLOY & USE RESOURCES EFFECTIVELY:

We will create a culture of commitment to sustainability and resource efficiency and integrate these concepts into all arenas, including our business practices and our curricular and co-curricular programs.

STRENGTHENED STRATEGIC PARTNERSHIPS

We will develop and enhance affiliations with strategic partners in the corporate, government, non-profit and education sectors locally and globally. Through mutually beneficial collaborations, we will increase visibility and awareness of Webster University, advance our mission, create good will, and maximize enrollment opportunities.

ACTION

Accountability is key to the success of this plan. Themes, objectives, metrics and initiatives will be “owned” by people in key positions, and resources will be made available to advance and complete initiatives.

Background

In 2008, Webster University adopted Vision 2020 as a new strategic plan. The Vision 2020 plan articulated Webster’s vision to be a premier U.S. - based international university setting a distinct standard for global education. Grounded in four core values—students, learning, diversity, global citizenship—the Vision 2020 plan established Webster’s mission as a worldwide institution that ensures high-quality learning experiences that transform students for global citizenship and individual excellence.

Since 2008, the Webster community has advanced Vision 2020’s six goals and individual activities and objectives. A “strategic prism” refined the plan by articulating a systems orientation to executing elements of the plan, and the Webster 2015 Stretch Goals were created to establish ambitious quantifiable metrics for accomplishing Webster’s vision and mission.

Vision 2020 was effectively implemented and completed by 2015, the year of Webster’s Centennial. As Webster enters a second century, it does so in a manner that builds upon our storied heritage and accomplishments and advances Webster’s vision and mission in the next century. Global Impact for the Next Century builds upon the foundation of Webster University’s global network. It embraces our global heritage and provides the innovative links to mobilize Webster’s vast network of academic and operational excellence on our campus locations around the world.

PROCESS: DEVELOPING GLOBAL IMPACT FOR THE NEXT CENTURY

Hundreds of members of the Webster University community—faculty, staff, students, administrators, trustees, alumni—developed the foundation documents for the new strategic plan and have led the design of this plan: Global Impact for the Next Century. These efforts from 2009 – 2015 helped to establish the foundation for the plan:

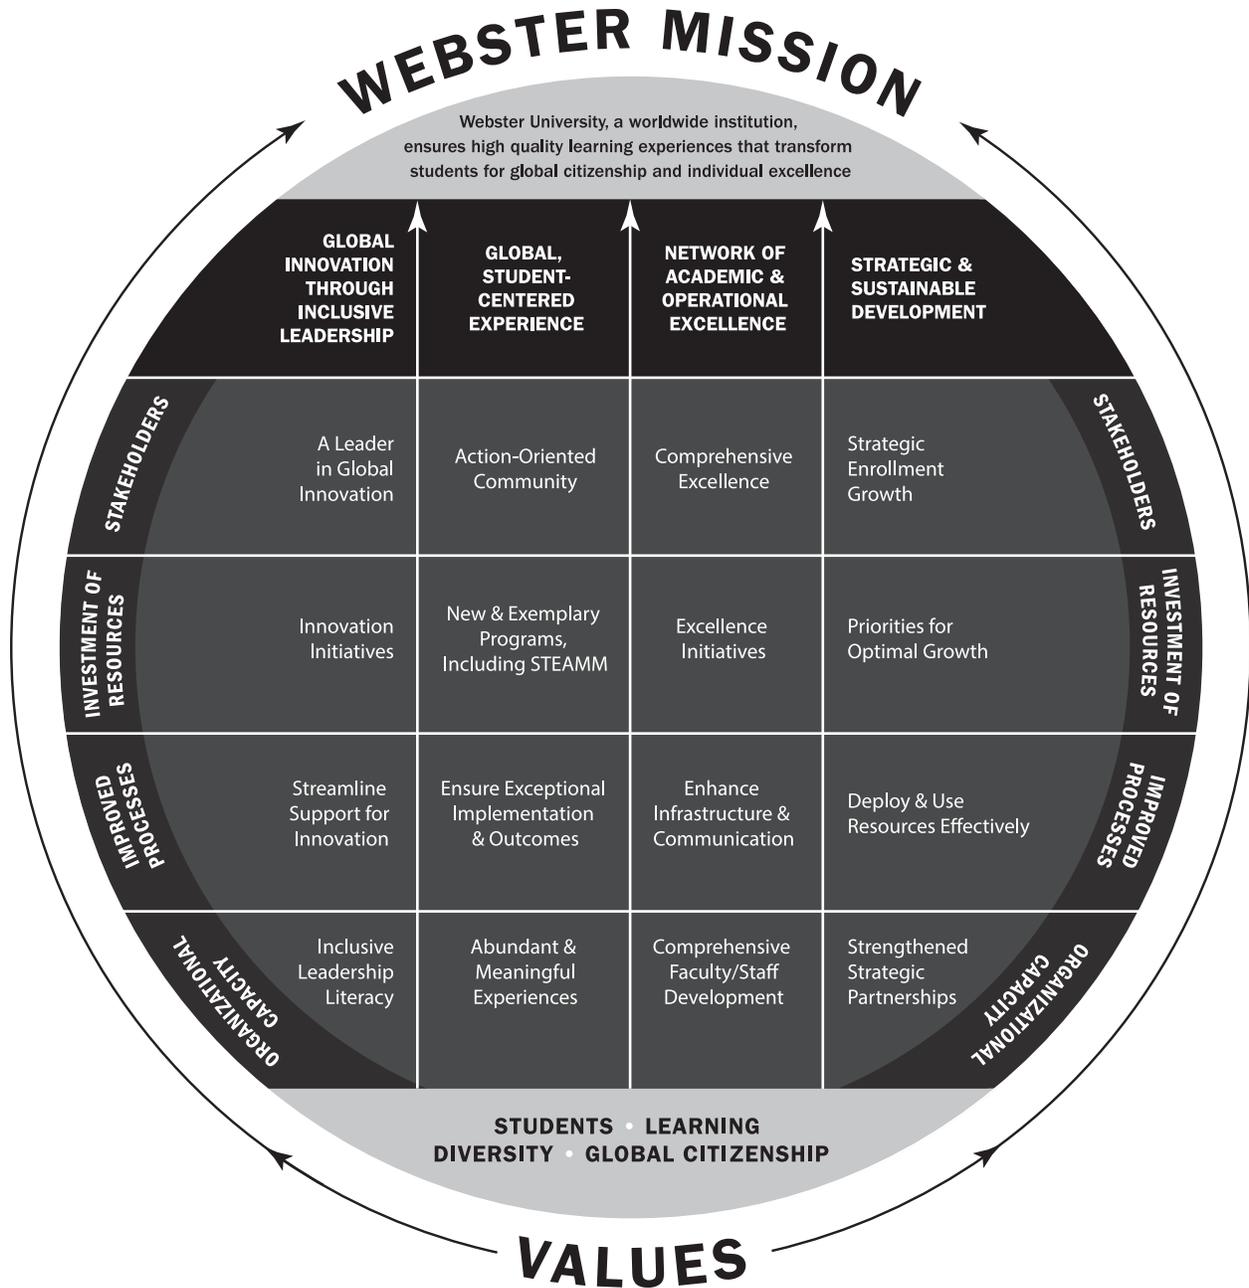

- Webster’s Internationalization Laboratory
- Seven Working Groups: Science, Technology, Engineering, Math, Medicine (STEMM); External Outreach and Engagement; Recruitment and Enrollment; Retention; Policies and Procedures/Shared Governance; Diversity and Inclusion; and Organizational Realignment
- Deans’ Global Initiative
- Academic Program and Site Review
- Trustee Retreats
- Strategic Plan Steering Committee

Credo, a comprehensive higher education consulting firm serving private colleges and universities, provided expert assistance to the Strategic Planning Steering Committee, chaired by the vice provost and comprised of Webster faculty, staff, and administrators.

RESULT: WHAT THIS PLAN ACCOMPLISHES

This plan builds on Webster’s accomplishments and successes in its first century to assure success in its second. The themes and initiatives capitalize on Credo’s research about the dimensions of thriving independent colleges and universities.
